

RABIN CONE INTERPRETATION & REPORT

An Interpretation & Report (I&R) CPT Code 92283 is not required for Medicare. However, you may find that the following documentation will make it easier to track test results and see progression:

- Date Performed: July 2, 2019

- Physician's order*:

Rabin Cone test ordered to evaluate...

- macular function in dry AMD, diabetic retinopathy, etc. patient
- visual pathway function in patient with MS
- cataract impairment
- high-risk drug management
- macular function in patient with night vision, contrast sensitivity complaint

- Technician: Chris Johnson, COA

- Reliability of Test*:

- Extended response times were consistent with moderately degraded cone function OD
- Normal response times OS
- No environmental interference

- Patient Cooperation: Good patient cooperation with no distractions or user errors

- Test Findings*:

- 2 cone types moderately degraded OD consistent with dry AMD; 0 cone types degraded OS
- No cone types degraded OU showing retinal health preservation despite dry AMD

- Assessment/ Diagnosis*: Cone function showed degradation since last visit, OD. No change OS.

- Impact on Treatment/Prognosis*:

- Begin AREDS II formula
- Discuss recommended lifestyle change
- Adjust medications
- Recommend evaluation by neuro ophthalmologist
- Order additional testing

- Physician Signature: Pat Smith, MD

*Not intended to be comprehensive

**The information supplied is based on public information. Innova Systems is not a medical coding advisor and is not responsible for any misinformation. Innova Systems recommends you review all medical coding documentation requirements with a coding specialist. Information is subject to change.